

Turning wine into design

By Marie Le Fort

The new century's wineries are
impressive works
of architecture

Vina Vik, Chile (above)

Designed by local vanguard figure Smilan Radic, Vina Vik is an impressive structure, partly buried within the land that surrounds it. The holistic vineyard is located in the Millahue valley, in Chile's scenic wine country. "Our aim was to obtain significant energy savings and limited visual impact, while integrating the vineyard into the landscape," says Radic. A guesthouse set high upon the hill completes the architectural experience.
